

HUEY LONG HAS OPENED ATTACK ON OPPONENTS

RESUMES HIS 'MURDER PLOT' INVESTIGATION

Senator Surrounded By Bodyguards, Militiamen

Baton Rouge, La., Feb. 1.—(P)—Senator Huey P. Long, clustering bodyguards and militiamen around him, today launched a series of militant counter attacks against his political foes in Louisiana whom he charges with a "murder plot" designed to kill him.

The Louisiana senator stepped from a Washington train this morning in New Orleans, sped here by motor car, and by mid-afternoon had arrested one of his bitterest foes and resumed the "murder plot" inquiry where he heard a witness testify he believed the president of the Anti-Long Square Deal association fired the shot which wounded a citizen in a clash here last Saturday.

Ernest Bourgeois, head of the Square Dealers, was arrested shortly before today's session of the inquiry began, but was released later. He denied any part in Saturday's shooting. The wounded man—George Alessi—was shot as armed citizens and national guardsmen met at the local airport following the first session of the hearing, at which the "Kingfish" charged that general of his political opponents had conspired to waylay and kill him.

Tobe Leblanc, the witness testifying at this afternoon's hearing, said on cross-examination, directed by Senator Long, that he was a member of the Square Deal Association and in the crowd at the airport when Alessi was wounded.

He said he was armed with a .45 caliber pistol but didn't use it in his plan to "shoot the captain," because all but "three or four" of the civilian crowd had left soon after the shooting. He said a soldier took his weapon.

He told the court he saw Bourgeois getting up after jumping a fence, and "twice his gun to get a mud out of it, and it went off twice. Then I saw somebody was shot."

An instant summons was issued for George Campbell, publisher of the Hammond, La., Vindicator, weekly newspaper, because of a telegram he sent the Chicago Tribune saying the "assassination of Huey Long is inevitable."

Long, every step and movement closely watched by heavily armed guards, rushed into this revolt-torn city early today and immediately started issuing orders from a hotel suite where he conferred with Governor O. K. Allen and other state officials.

BABES BORN UNDER EMERGENCY LAMP

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 1.—(P)—Triplets were born last night in the glare of an emergency lamp when city lights failed and left a hospital dark. An emergency electric lamp was brought from the Bethesda hospital operating room into the delivery room to light the triplets' way into the world. They were born to Mrs. Nels Birkeland, 28, of Climax. Line trouble caused the city lights to fail.

Reporters Stop Hiccupping By Their Interview

New York, Feb. 1.—(P)—Just as a group of reporters was about to interview Samuel F. Falk, 43-year-old painter, about his 12-day spell of hiccupping today, the attack suddenly ended.

All sorts of remedies—holding his breath, sugar-water, breathing into a bag and inhaling horseradish fumes—had failed to break the spell, Falk's second within a year.

The reporters walked in, Falk hiccupped just once and then it was over.

STOCK HOLDINGS REPORTED BY 10 VERY RICH MEN

John Rockefeller, Jr., Has Millions In Standard Oil

Washington, Feb. 1.—(P)—Ten very rich men, among the richest in the United States, today led the list of the nation's business giants who have reported their security holdings to the security and exchange commission.

Here they are with such parts of their fortunes (minor parts in some cases) as were shown by their reports:

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., $200,000,000 in Standard Oil companies.
 S. S. Kresge, $38,000,000 in his limited prior store chain.

 Modie J. Spiegel, $3,165,000 in Spiegel May Stern company.

This list includes only those who have reported to the commission to date. Further filings undoubtedly will make important additions. Others who have reported lesser holdings may be entitled to a higher rank on the basis of ownership not yet disclosed.

12 FISHERMEN ARE SAVED FROM DEATH ON HUGE ICE FLOE

Were Marooned In An Attempt To Set Their Lines

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 1.—(P)—Knowing the harrowing fear of being caught in open water on Lake Superior at this time of year, 12 hardy fishermen were back safely in their homes tonight after being rescued from a huge ice floe on which they were marooned when it suddenly broke from shore-ice on Keweenaw Bay.

They were taken off the floe by two fellow fishermen in a large rowboat as coast guards across the bay already had set out to their rescue. The men had been adrift four hours when rescued.

The fishermen, residing in the communities of Bangor, L'Anse and Pequaing, had gone out on the ice this forenoon to set their lines. With roar that echoed across the bay the ice cracked, drifting from the main shore-peak so suddenly the men could not leap to safety. The floe on which they were trapped was a half mile wide and three miles long.

The floe had drifted a mile out into the bay when Elnor Hild and Ole Pasanen, propelling a large rowboat equipped with extra oars, reached the marooned men and took them off.

The fishermen suffered no hardship, they said. They estimated from the speed of the floe that it was not far from the open lake by the time they got back to the mainland.

ATTEMPT TO STOP CO-ED'S HICCUPS

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(P)—Elizabeth Warner, pretty 19-year-old Wheaton college co-ed, was given intravenous feedings today as physicians attempted to end her 17-day attack of hiccupping.

Fears that she might suffer from starvation through inability to retain foods or liquids caused attendants to resort to injections and ordered her removal to a hospital.

The spasms recur at the rate of 20 a minute and she has been unable to sleep for more than four hours at a time.

Miss Warner, a resident of Georgetown, Ill., had been treated at the home of friends in suburban Elmhurst.

Principals and Scenes in Louisiana's Newest "Purge"

Crushing of the revolt of the Square Deal Association and passage of still more stringent laws at a special legislative session is the aim of Senator Huey Long, shown in fighting form, upper left. In the center is the $5,000,000 Louisiana Capitol at Baton Rouge, where troops are on guard. Upper right, Ernest J. Bourgeois, Square Deal president, is shown addressing followers. Beneath him, in circle, is Gov. O. K. Allen, the Kingfish's pliant henchman.

SHIPBUILDERS SOLICITED FOR CAMPAIGN FUND

Evidence Is Presented At Committee Hearing

By Preston L. Grover
 Washington, Feb. 1.—(P)—An alleged link between politics, shipbuilding and fat contracts for constructing naval vessels was scrutinized today by the senate munitions committee.

It received evidence, in the form of copies of letters, that prominent steel-makers and shipbuilders were solicited for Roosevelt campaign funds in 1932, by Arthur P. Homer, who has been portrayed as a shipbuilder's agent with white house contacts.

"It is apparent that if we are to have a treaty strength navy, we wrote, 'we must have someone other than a pacifist in the white house, and as a treaty strength navy is of vital importance to you shipbuilders, we believe that the best interests of the country will be served by the election of Governor Roosevelt who has full knowledge of the navy's problems.'"

Senator Vandenberg (R, Mich.), who produced the copies, saying the original copies were introduced later, named these men as the recipients of Homer's communications:

Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company.
 S. W. Wakeman, vice president of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp.
 W. S. Newell, president of the Bath Iron Works, Bath, Me.
 C. L. Bardo, president of the New York Shipbuilding Corp.
 C. Stewart Lee, vice president, Pusey and Jones, Wilmington, Del.
 J. C. Pow, president, Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., Chester, Pa.
 W. W. Smith, chief engineer, federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., Kearney, N. J.
 Charles G. West, president, Manitowish Shipbuilding Co.
 Eugene Grace, chairman, Bethlehem steel.

Testimony yesterday purported to show that three days of negotiation, ending with a session at the white house in July last year, were followed by distribution of building jobs to three companies. The ships are being built with PWA funds.

WOMAN'S MURDER STILL UNSOLVED

Los Angeles, Feb. 1.—(P)—Death at the hands of "persons unknown" was written today after the name of Mrs. Amanda E. Watson, 64, by a coroner's jury.

Mrs. Watson's body, with a man's handkerchief drawn taut over her head, mouth, and deep wounds on her head, was found in her room several days ago. She was the owner of two rooming houses.

On the stand at the inquest, W. H. Wyatt, 64, a neighbor of the slain woman, was asked to explain the presence of his fingerprints in Mrs. Watson's room. He said he had been there twice recently, the last time being a week ago today. Her body was found Wednesday and medical examiners expressed the opinion that she had been dead some time.

STRIKERS RIOT

Brest, France, Feb. 1.—(P)—Riotous strikers at the Naval Arsenal today upset a truck in one of Brest's principal streets and used it as a barricade in a clash with Mobile guards in which one guard and one worker were injured.

A one-hour strike was staged here similar to that at the arsenal at Toulon to protest four percent wage cuts.

(At Toulon several workers were slightly injured when they clashed with police.)

American Federation of Labor Will Not Accept Automobile Code William Green Declares

By Joseph L. Miller Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Feb. 1.—(P)—A forecast by the Automobile Manufacturers Association of steady work in that industry under the revised code today followed an assertion by the American Federation of Labor refusing to accept it.

The new arrangement, contemplating introduction of some new models in the fall, the association said, would "throw any unavoidable slack periods into the summer months when the effect on the employees will be less burdensome than in winter months as at present."

Meanwhile, William Green, president of the federation of labor, continued to lash the administration for renewing the code without accepting the federation's demands for a hearing.

"We protest against this code," he said before the house judiciary committee, in testimony on the 36-hour week bill. "We will not accept it, recognize it, not yield on it."

No further amplification of the federation's stand was immediately forthcoming. The organized labor body was not consulted in the negotiations over extension of the code, a labor leader in Detroit having shown that only a small fraction of workers there were affiliated with the A. F. of L.

When asked at this press conference about the federation's complaint, President Roosevelt would say only that he was thoroughly informed of the A. F. of L. position through letters from Green and Charlton Ogburn, United Auto Workers counsel. They made their position perfectly clear, he added.

The code amendments, the Manufacturers association said today, would not "completely solve" the seasonal employment problem but were "most promising toward offsetting the effects of the automobile buying habits of the people which cause the industry's production to fluctuate."

SALES TAX BRINGS 3 MILLION TO THE STATE IN JANUARY

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—(P)—Governor Horner expressed gratification today as the finance department announced that $3,945,378.04 was collected from the retail sales tax during January. Finance Director K. L. Ames, Jr., said the returns were the highest since the tax law was changed.

"Under this tax the state has steady revenue," Mr. Horner said, "while the difficulty of collecting the old property tax was always a problem. The property tax was paid annually with little certainty of collection."

"It is also extremely gratifying to learn of the substantial increase in December business in the state."

The tax collected during January was on December retail business. Ames said the department is considering licensing all who engage in retail trade as an aid to better enforcement of the act. Persons selling gasoline, on which the state collects the three cent tax, are licensed and the director thought a similar system would aid in sales tax collections.

Another plan which the department has under consideration is a coupon system based on mills so as to enable merchants to give customers correct change in the collection of sales tax from them.

Governor Horner has not yet passed on either plan.

RETURNERS ARE HIGHEST SINCE THE LAW CHANGED

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 1.—(P)—Homer Read, former assistant chief of police; Charles Kaib, reputed handbook operator; John P. "Doc" Walsh, former federal convict, and Mrs. Francis Ashworth, Walsh's daughter, were indicted by the Winnebago county grand jury today on charges of conspiracy to corrupt the public morals. Kaib was indicted also on a separate charge of operating a handbook.

The indictments were the outgrowth of an investigation begun by the board of fire and police commissioners which first heard charges that Read had accepted protection money from the bookies establishment. Read was later dismissed. His appeal is still pending.

The blanket charge alleges that the defendants knowingly allowed a horse race betting establishment to operate and conspired to protect Kaib from arrest and punishment while he was engaged in the operation of a handbook.

Other indictments named 18 defendants on various charges.

LINDBERGH BABY KIDNAPING MYSTERY THRUST ON TRAIL OF VIOLET SHARPE, FISCH

CHINESE SHIP IS RAIDED BY PIRATE GANG

British Airplane Roars Over Vessel Forcing Robbers To Flee

Hong Kong, Feb. 2.—(Saturday)—(P)—A British airplane roared over the coastal steamer Tunchow at noon yesterday while her passengers, prisoners of pirates, cheered wildly and the outlaws, who seized the ship soon after she sailed from Shanghai, Tuesday fled for shore.

That was the dramatic story radioed to Hong Kong today as the Tunchow—the 75 American, British and Scandinavian school children aboard her safe and sound—made for this port after 68 hours in the hands of the pirates.

The pirates, numbering 12, boarded the ship at Shanghai and seized control at 6 p. m. Tuesday, the radio advised.

A Russian guard, one of six employed to protect the vessel from piracy, fought off four men until finally he was shot down. Passengers saw him alive 20 minutes later when the brigands, they said, brutally killed him.

When the alarm was sounded, Sub-engineer K. M. MacDonald rushed from his cabin only to fall, shot in the chest.

The pirates then seized control of the ship, took custody of all arms, and turned her nose southward.

For three days they systematically looted her. The passengers, however, were treated with every consideration, although they were herded into the saloons and held prisoners there.

In an effort to avoid detection, the pirates painted the ship's black funnel red and white and also painted on her sides the Japanese name Toa Maru.

Near Chiling Point at noon yesterday the pirates stopped the ship and summoned a junk alongside. One load of loot was conveyed ashore but before the second trip could be made, an airplane from the British aircraft carrier Hermes, which was exercising outside of territorial waters, appeared over the ship, to the enthusiastic cheers of the children.

The outlaws hurried ashore in the ship's boat, taking with them as hostages the chief officer, the Chinese wireless operator and several Chinese passengers.

Once they reached shore, they stowed in the boat and fled, leaving the hostages on the beach. Another boat took them off and the ship then proceeded to Hong Kong.

Applicants For Auto Licenses Are Generous

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 1.—(P)—Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, today complained about getting too much money from applicants for 1935 automobile license plates.

"Today we received over-payments from more than 750 applicants," he said. "In each instance the car owner sent us 50 cents too much for a new certificate of title."

It is not necessary to get a new certificate of title each year if an automobile is reregistered by the same owner.

Hughes said the persons paying too much money are causing his clerical staff extra work in bookkeeping in addition to the expense of mailing back refunds.

SECURITY PLAN CHANGES HAVE BEEN MAPPED

New Plan Would Save Government Many Millions

By Clarence M. Wright Copyright, 1935. By the Associated Press.

Washington, Feb. 1.—(P)—Significant changes in the president's social security plan designed, first, to take the onus of charity off unemployment insurance, and, second, to save the government several hundred millions a year, were reported today to have been mapped by administration officials.

These changes, it was asserted in an informal capitol quarter, would be presented to congress next week. An accompanying effort would be made to hurry enactment so the 44 state legislatures meeting this winter could put through corrective laws. Signs of delay in final action already have appeared in both senate and house.

President Roosevelt, at a late press conference meanwhile stood fast against enlargement of federal contributions to old age pensions above $15 a month. Even with this figure government payments would reach $385,000,000 a year in 1980, and to go above it, he felt, would impose an unbearable cost.

The states could add more than their $15 share, he emphasized, but pointed out the prospective $360 a year from federal-state contributions would be more than paid in many states including New York.

The president made no mention of prospective modifications, but in other close-to-white house sources it was said some had been agreed upon.

Roughly, and although some modifications may be in store before the suggested recommendations are submitted, it was said they would include:

1. Transfer of administration of the unemployment insurance fund from a new social insurance board to the treasury.

2. Elimination of federal donation of "unearned" annuities.

3. Possible exemption of farmers, domestic and casuals from the pension and job insurance provisions of the bill. This change, it was said, had not been definitely agreed upon.

Congressional committee members have heard numerous witnesses testify that if unemployment insurance were left in the hands of a social insurance board, it would appear to lack of charity. They have urged that the treasury administer the insurance as it would all other monies in the security program.

AGED KANKAKEE MAN KILLS ONE, WOUNDS ANOTHER

Shoots Down Daughter-In-Law And Son By Former Marriage

Kankakee, Ill., Feb. 1.—(P)—John Dixon, 72, was seized by police late today shortly after, they said, he shot to death his daughter-in-law and then critically wounded her 16-year-old son by a former marriage. Officers said the shootings climaxed a family quarrel.

The dead woman was Mrs. Mary Dixon. Her son, Herbert Dowd, was reported dying in a hospital.

"It's a long story—just trouble, trouble, all the time," police said Dixon declared when he was arrested in the home following the slaying. They said he admitted the shooting, declaring that there was a scuffle and he was pushed against a closet where the gun was kept.

"I didn't mean to shoot the boy—he must have got in the way," police said Dixon declared.

Robert Dixon, husband of the woman and son of the man held for her slaying, was at work when the shootings occurred. Dixon, his wife, and her son made their home with his father.

The elder Dixon's 70-year-old wife, a helpless invalid, witnessed the shootings, police said. Unable to move, she saw her daughter-in-law and her husband engage in a scuffle, and then watched while her husband snatched up his revolver and fired two shots, police said she told them.

GOVERNOR SAVES MAN FROM CHAIR

Austin, Tex., Feb. 1.—(P)—Governor James V. Allred intervened today to prevent Cecil Short, 29, a convicted murderer from going to the electric chair because of a clerical error.

"I am releasing a proclamation commuting Short's sentence to life imprisonment," Allred said.

Miriam A. Ferguson issued a commutation for Short Jan. 4, before she left the office of governor, but a stenographer used the date "1934" instead of "1935" in copying the proclamation.

ARRIVES AT PRISON

Joliet, Ill., Feb. 1.—(P)—Fred Blink, 43, who is sentenced to die by electrocution Feb. 22, arrived at the state penitentiary here today. He was convicted by a jury of the murder of five persons when he went berserk during an argument in his home town of Fulton, Ill.

KILL COYOTES, WOUND MEN

Ottawa, Kas., Feb. 1.—(P)—Five coyotes and half a dozen men were shot in a roundup by 800 Franklin county hunters today.

The coyotes were killed.

The men were wounded slightly by accidental contact with stray pellets from the hunters' guns.

NEW YORK MAN SAW WOMAN AND CHLO ON CAR

Peter Sommer Declares 2 Men Were Also In Party

By John Ferris
 Flemington, N. J., Feb. 1.—(P)—The Lindbergh baby kidnaping mystery was thrust tonight on the trail of Violet Sharpe, servant in the Dwight W. Morrow household who committed suicide after the kidnaping, and Isador Fisch, dead furrier friend of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, fighting the electric chair as the kidnaper.

Peter H. Sommer, a New York fingerprint expert, testified that March 1, 1932, the night of the kidnaping, he traveled on a ferry from New Jersey to New York City with two men whom he saw assist a nervous woman with a blond baby aboard a street car on the New York side.

Edward J. Reilly, chief of the defense counsel, showed him two pictures, one of a man and one of a woman, which Sommer said he recognized.

Reilly, in aside, announced that the man was Fisch and the woman Miss Sharpe.

On cross-examination Attorney General David T. Wilentz showed the gold-toothed witness a picture of Miss Sharpe and asked if that was the woman he saw with the baby.

"She bears a very strong resemblance," Sommer said.

Q. Would you say it was she?
 A. I wouldn't say yes. I wouldn't say no. I wouldn't swear it was her.

Wilentz again showed Sommer the photo of a man and asked if it was the man on the boat.

"I wouldn't say 'yes' and I wouldn't say 'no'."

In a way he resembles him and in a way he doesn't," was Sommer's uncertain reply.

The testimony paved the way for that of Mrs. Anna Bonstedt, a Yorkers, N. Y., hunchback proprietor, who was shown a picture of Isador Fisch, who was shown the night of the kidnaping, with two men.

Sommer, cross-examined by Wilentz, clung to his assertions he had seen the men but protested Wilentz was attempting to "mix him up."

Most of the day was given over to the examination of John M. Trendley, of East St. Louis, Ill., a volunteer witness who said he was an expert copyist and student of handwriting. He clung to his assertions Hauptmann's handwriting and that of the ransom notes were not the same and asserted the ace of the state's eight experts, Albert S. Osborn, had based his conclusion on only one word, "is."

In a whip-lash cross-examination by Joseph Lanigan, Trendley admitted his study of the kidnap case writings was short and "highly cursory."

Reilly read during the day the defense would not attempt to prove the handwriting in the ransom notes was that of Fisch, from whom Hauptmann said he received the ransom money and who died in Germany.

"We are not here to say who wrote the ransom notes but we are here to say Hauptmann did not," Reilly said.

Court was recessed tonight until Monday morning on Reilly's plea he must bring witnesses to Flemington, despite Wilentz's objections.

Reilly said he would have some 38 more witnesses and counsel on both sides agreed that the latter part of next week should see the end of the trial.

Sommer said he was employed in the public welfare department of the City of New York and had been in Fairview, N. J., giving fingerprint instruction the night of the kidnaping. He was still on the stand when court adjourned.

Reilly questioned him.
 Q. Did you notice any people on the ferry boat?
 A. Yes.
 Q. Describe them.
 A. There were two men, one five foot nine and the other five foot four. They were smoking cigarettes.

NAB ASSOCIATE OF ACCUSED SLAYERS

Cairo, Ill., Feb. 1.—(P)—Jules Hopkins, 29, was identified today by Bloomington, Ill., police as an associate of the three men accused of the slaying of Deputy Sheriff A. V. Vonsar.

Two of the trio, Harry Roley and Eugene Nelson, alias Malson, have been captured. The third, named by Nelson as the actual slayer of the Bloomington deputy during a raid Monday, has been identified from photographs as Kelen Irwin.

Sheriff Elmer G. Swearingen said Hopkins was to have joined the other spring exhibition games in Cuba.

President Sam Breardon said today the Cuban trip had been called off largely because of "uncertain" conditions in the islands. The cards will train at Bradenton, Fla.

TRAINING TRIP DELAYED

St. Louis, Feb. 1.—(P)—Start of spring training by the champion St. Louis Cardinals has been postponed from Feb. 28 until March 4 or 5 as the result of cancellation of plans for two spring exhibition games in Cuba.

President Sam Breardon said today the Cuban trip had been called off largely because of "uncertain" conditions in the islands. The cards will train at Bradenton, Fla.

John Barton Payne

Judge John Barton Payne, for nearly 14 years chairman of the American Red Cross, was an outstanding figure in the life of the nation. His death Jan. 24 at the age of almost 80 years was noted everywhere. He was the highest type of American citizen and rendered distinguished service to his country in numerous offices, never sought, but always proffered to him.
Judge Payne was born at Pruntytown,
Va., Jan. 26, 1855. His early life was fraught with hardship due to the fact that the family home was constantly
in the path of the contending Union and Confederate. He obtained his first job in a store as a lad of 15,
and at 18 was engaged as a store manager. He worked in the circuit court of his home county and studied law at night. Later he worked in a mill and continued his law studies.
The major part of his legal career
was spent in Chicago, where he served as judge of the Superior court of Cook county.

It was his oft-repeated statement that the door into his office at the Red Cross was always open. Employees do not recall ever seeing it closed when the Judge was occupying
it. Every employee of the Red Cross was free to go to the chairman with his troubles or complaints.

The Judge planned on spending every week-end when the weather was fair at his nearly-beloved farm in Fauquier county, near Warrenton. On this farm in 1932 he had built a long,
low, roomy stone cottage, and here he kept bachelor quarters over the weekend with his Japanese valet. He walked over the farm acres and viewed the large herds of prize cattle.
Although particular in his dress
when the occasion demanded it, the Judge was fond of wearing the heavy walking shoes and rough tweeds which were his farm costume, and in the summer time topped by the white tropical sun helmet which he once wore on a hurry call to the White House, to the dedication of cameramen.

Judge Payne's first appointment as chairman of the American Red Cross was on October 13, 1921.

In the following year he was made chairman of the board of governors
of the League of Red Cross Societies,
with headquarters in Paris, France.
This is an organization of the 61 Red Cross societies of the world. He has been re-elected to this post each year.
Aside from his annual attendance at the meetings of this society usually held in Europe, Judge Payne has never taken an extended leave of absence
from his work as Red Cross chairman.

The greatest disaster relief operations ever undertaken have been directed by Judge Payne during his Red Cross service. These included the Mississippi Valley floods of 1927; the Florida hurricanes of 1926 and 28; the West Indies hurricane of 1928; the drought of 1930-31 and unemployment relief prior to organization of Federal relief.

He came to the organization when
it had not been greatly deflated from its World War status, but soon had reduced its staff, administrative costs
and operations to a peacetime basis.

Not long ago a friend had occasion to congratulate Judge Payne on his happiness in his work with the Red Cross.

"And I get the highest salary in the world—personal satisfaction," he replied.

Groundhog Day

Once more the groundhog faces the duty of doing the shadow walk. Today
he must come forth and look for his shadow. If he sees it, he will return and stay in his den another six weeks.
If he does not see it he will stay out of his den, but what he will do in the meantime nobody has ever thought to inquire. We suggest "Me and My Shadow" as the song for today, and sausage and gravy as the principal part of the breakfast menu.

It is of interest to the public to know that the groundhog is a real animal,

the performances ascribed to him
on this particular day may be somewhat legendary. Two Illinois farmers recently discovered that a groundhog
can be a nuisance. He chased them into the house.

The groundhog came out of his den, saw the two men working in a field and started for them. They had never seen a groundhog act that way and concluded he was mad. It is assumed the groundhog lost his temper
when he found that he had come out of his den some weeks ahead of schedule.

Seriously, the groundhog is a destructive animal and not much good about the farm. Josh Plummer of Jersey county says he believes he has a thousand of the pests on his farm.
What he has to say about them and the damage they do may be of interest to farmers in this county who have had the same experience.

Says Mr. Plummer:
"The rodents do a lot of damage to the roots of the apple trees and they also cut the bark of the trees above
the ground."

"A ground hog will climb an apple tree and eat the fruit from the branches. Last season I shot a number of the pests out of the trees in my orchard. We watched some of the animals working on fruit on the lower branches of a Jonathan tree. They would pick off a fine apple, eat
a few bites and then throw it away
like a bad kid. Then they'd pick another good apple and take a few bites."

"You can readily see that orchardists
in our township will continue to have heavy losses unless there is some concerted effort to exterminate the groundhogs."

The Quints' Chances

The quintuplet girls of Callendar,
Ontario are now eight months old.
They are now normal healthy babies
with excellent chances to survive and grow to womanhood. The wise Dr. Daseof who is caring for them is primarily responsible for their being here at all. He has seen to it that they have had better opportunities to survive than most children get.

The fact that there are five babies
has been enough to establish for each of them a most promising future.
Guardians of the children say the money they will receive from various sources when they are ready for it will be about $100,000, enough to provide excellent educations for all.

Had the children remained in their humble environment in the backwoods home of their parents, it is doubtful whether most of them could have been saved. It was necessary for the public to take charge of these remarkable children, and because
that responsibility has been properly assumed, they face one of the brightest futures, barring mishaps.

Were it possible for society to give every child that is born the same chance for life and health that the quints enjoy, the human race would improve mightily in a few generations. Who shall say this ideal will not some day be realized?

In the Cause of Politics

We are so used to politics and politicians that we generally fail to realize the outrageous things which are done in their name.

Here's a sample: Martin L. Davey recently became governor of Ohio. At the head of the state's minimum wage division was a woman named Louise Stitt. She had made an enviable record in administering the law
which protects Ohio's women and children from economic injustice. But one of the Davey administration's first official acts was to remove her from office "because she wasn't a vote getter."

Now this sort of thing is as common as grass; and because it is so common we don't recognize it for what it is—an outrage, pure and simple. To fire a capable public servant
because he or she didn't get out the vote for this or that office-seeker is to strike a blow at the very existence
of the democratic principle.

And we're so used to it that we don't greet it with the indignation
it richly merits.

The Only Supreme Court Gold Decision So Far

The New Deal in Washington

Ickes Will Keep His Scalp
... Sourced Pork Hunters
Play Big Part in Attack ...
Boss of Interior Can Give It
as Well as Take It ... And When He Says "No," That Settles It.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington
Correspondent

Washington.—There are at least two glittering reasons for a bet that the scalp of Secretary Ickes will continue to adhere to his head.

One is the fact that Roosevelt does not want to repudiate his cabinet official,
in the face of persistent clamor
by the secretary's enemies. The other is that he can't afford to.

If Ickes were loved for the enemies
he has made, he would be entitled to
as tremendous an avalanche of popular affection as has afflicted any national hero of our time.

That doesn't mean that Ickes is an especially lovable character. And heaven knows he is far from the quin-tuplet of fact. But the assorted managerial of his enemies is as unsavory a lot in the aggregate as ever
was gathered under one tent.

Not that you could get them all under one tent, for most of them prefer
to snipe from behind the thick bushes.
Roosevelt knows all that. Neither his own temperament nor his administration's reputation for integrity permits him to surrender to the anti-Ickes forces—which also contain so many enemies of the New Deal.

It isn't to be supposed that all those who have sharpened their daggers for Ickes are scoundrels, of course. Some are simply keeping bad company.

Hungry for Pork
The attack on Ickes in Congress,
aimed at keeping him from control of the $4,000,000,000 public works fund,
has been tied up with the attack on the bill by congressmen hungry for vast gobs of pork.

Nearly everybody in Washington
was whispering that the measure was a "bad bill," but greedy congressmen measured up the attack when they sought to make a pork barrel of it.

Ickes achieved great unpopularity
on Capitol Hill primarily through his defiance of congressmen and other politicians who sought both pork
and patronage from him during his administration of the first $3,300,000,000
public works fund.

The House contains many disappointed congressmen who sought postoffice and other federal buildings which weren't needed, jobs for political supporters, allotments for public work projects which didn't look good to Ickes, and favors for land speculators,
sharp contractors, "hot oilers," lobbyists, power interests, Indian looters,
and local politicians.

Apply Heavy Pressure
Those interests behind the congressmen, knowing that Ickes blocked their various games, are exerting all possible
pressure against the stubborn secretary.

Many congressmen, elected in greater proportion than ever before on promises to get federal funds for home
projects—often of doubtful nature—
don't want Ickes to be handing any of that $4,000,000,000.

And of course a fellow like Ickes
makes no hit with that powerful New Deal political boss, Jim Farley.

Ickes Carries Sting
Ickes knows how to hit back. While the sniping was hottest, he moved to take the Elk Hills oil reserve away
from Standard Oil and other interests
on the ground that it was government property.

He followed that up by pushing for a grand jury investigation of alleged graft in a Texas PWA project which involved certain political figures.

The unspoken threat is that Ickes
may yet reveal much more which he knows about politicians and their PWA activities.

And He's "Discourteous"
The semi-official version of complaints in the House against Ickes,
given by House leaders who promised the complainants that Roosevelt rather than Ickes would administer the $4,000,000,000 was that it was based on the secretary's alleged "discourtesy" to congressmen.

No one explained exactly what was meant by that. Everybody knows Ickes has sometimes been hard-boiled,
even with congressmen.

If you knew some of the congressmen, you'd probably guess why. But it's admitted that Ickes doesn't know how to say "No!" and make 'em like it.

That's an important part of the bureaucratic technique in which he is sadly deficient. He could take many tips from Roosevelt, who can even say
"no" and make his visitors think he is saying "yes."

Freak Envelopes
Slow Mail Service

Postal Department Points
Out Reasons that Covers
Should Be Uniform

The post office department in its regular bulletin is asking postmasters
to request the cooperation of users of mails in their communities in keeping freak sized or colored envelopes out of the mails. Such covers, it is pointed out, slow up the service and the department will appreciate it if the regulation size and colored envelopes
are used.

The bulletin calls attention to some
forms of envelopes, folders and cards,
which are either too large or small to be conveniently handled, or are circular or triangular in shape. These pieces of mail must be cancelled by hand, will not fit in the separation
cases and cannot be tied in packages
without folding or without danger of the string cutting the wrappers.

It is also pointed out by the department that dark colored stationery is not approved for the reason that it is hard to read the addresses, and there is also a suggestion that some of the envelopes fail to provide sufficient space for address and stamps as required in postal regulations. Three and one-half inches of clear space is recommended.

While it is the preferred shade, but light tints of yellow, pink, manila or robin egg blue are permissible. The uniform size of envelopes is recommended, and it is suggested that four
by nine inches be the maximum size,
and that none smaller than two and three quarters by four inches be used.

Whenever the department has called attention of mail users to these facts
the cooperation has been given and it is expected that all patrons will see the reasons for the suggestions.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:
To the Editor of The Journal-Courier:
New York, Feb. 1.—Now listen, this Mayor La Guardia is a good friend of mine, but he has just moved his snow
from one side of the streets to the other. He didn't seem to want to take it far from its old home.

Headline in the financial page says,
"This week's clearings rise to five billions, one hundred million." So the Roosevelt administration are not the only ones that are talking in billions.
We had been lead to believe that there was no "billion" only on a government
"deficit," but there is just as much money as there ever was. Nobody ate any during the depression, its just planted deeper in the rat hole, that's all.

Pythian Lodges of
This City Written
Up by Publication

Magazine Gives History of Jacksonville 152 and Favorite 376

The Pythian Booster, official publication of the Knights of Pythias in Illinois, in its January issue devoted several columns to the Jacksonville lodges of the order. Histories of Jacksonville lodge, No. 152, and Favorite lodge, No. 376, were given.

Of Jacksonville lodge the Pythian
Booster said:

Located in the heart of the territory
made famous by Abraham Lincoln,
who, as president of the United States,
so nobly espoused the cause of Pythian-
ism, Jacksonville lodge, No. 152, Jacksonville, Ill., is holding its own by working hard in glove with its brother lodge, Favorite, No. 376.

Organized July 1, 1886, by some sixty charter members, among whom were such prominent men as William Jennings Bryan, Judge O. P. Thompson, and Charles A. Barnes, Jacksonville lodge stands on a solid rock foundation of achievement.

Charles A. Barnes, after taking his stride every chair offered by Jacksonville lodge, became grand chancellor of Illinois and, later, supreme chancellor of the world. Judge O. P.
Thompson, as first chancellor commander, started the small organization
off with such vigor that within a short time the membership had reached 265.

Of the sixty original charter members five are still living, according to available records. These are: Abram Weiss, P.C.; ex-Governor Richard Yates, E. A. Nixon, Harry Havenhill,
and J. W. Hairgrove.

Favorite Lodge
Favorite lodge, No. 376, Knights of Pythias, was organized September 7,
1892, in the Benson building on South Sandy street, and afterwards moved to the Hoffman building on the southeast corner of the square. On January 15, 1909, together with Jacksonville lodge
No. 152, they moved to Castle hall on north side of square, where they have continued until the present time.

The lodge was organized with forty-nine charter members. Today it has four of the original members on the list, viz. F. L. Bean of Bridgeport, O., Jose L. McBee of Glendale, Calif., George W. Sorrells of Jacksonville, and John F. Brown of the Pythian Home, Decatur, Ill.

This lodge which was formed in the early nineties, was composed of members who were from the ordinary walks of life and it gave promise of a sturdy lodge which soon advanced in membership and finances as the years
rolled by until it became second lodge in size in the state with a membership of 650, about 1922, and soon after this date purchased a three-story building
on the north side of the square, the third floor forming part of Castle hall.

Thieves Get Money
At Filling Station,
Nothing at Second

Sheriff Investigates Two Robberies Last Night;
Loot Totals $19

Two filling stations in the county
were burglarized Thursday night, one near Jacksonville and the other at Waverly. While nothing was stolen from the Jacksonville station, the thieves got $10 in cash and several cigars at Waverly.

When employees of the Richardson
filling station on Mount Avenue went to work early Friday morning they found that burglars had beat them there. Door locks were broken and the place thoroughly ransacked. Evidence was that the prowlers were in search of cash only, as a large number of new tires and other articles were not molested.

Sheriff Kenneth Woods was notified
by the Waverly nightwatchman that the filling station operated by George Alderson was robbed Thursday night. Nineteen dollars in change was taken from the cash drawer, together with the total lot to about $25. Gasoline
oil and alcohol were also hauled away.

Dirt Roads Rough,
Ice Gone, is Report

Oiled Roads Good; Flood Waters Recede from Southern Routes

Dirt roads are very rough and while frozen early in the morning, they become almost impassable later in the day. Oiled roads are in good condition, the Jacksonville Auto club reported in its bulletin Friday.

Ice is entirely gone from central and southern Illinois highways and there is only a small amount on some of the highways in the northern part of the state.

Flood waters in the vicinity of Memphis are receding and several of the main highways that have been closed are now open to traffic. South of Memphis some of the state and federal routes are still not advisable for travel.

The Louisville, Ky., club reports all ice has disappeared from their highways and driving conditions are normal again.

The Mardi Gras at New Orleans will start this year on March 1st, and it is hoped that road conditions on routes
to that city will have improved before that time. Weather conditions will govern the best route to New Orleans
at that time and these will be reported
in a later bulletin.

CCC Camp for Morgan
County is Discussed
at Lynnville Meeting

Capt. V. C. Nickerson of the CCC camp at Pittsfield was the speaker Thursday night at a community meeting of Farm Bureau members held in Lynnville. He discussed terracing as a means of stopping erosion. The possibility of securing a CCC erosion project for Morgan county was discussed at the meeting.

A large committee, consisting of farmers and Jacksonville business men are working on this project and there is a good chance that the camp will be established in this county in the near future. The Farm Bureau men on the committee include J. W. Dods-
worth, F. A. Seymour, W. K. Ransdell, Fred Six, Merrill Barlow, F. H. Rolf,
Chester Thomason, John T. Maloney.

Jacksonville business men on the committee include J. W. Merrigan, M.
E. Gilbert, J. A. Long, Clarence Luke-man, William Deutsch, Dr. R. C. Henley and T. V. Hopper.

The Value of Terracing
Capt. Nickerson said in part at the meeting Thursday night:

"Most of us are familiar with the inconvenience and losses caused by gullies but we have, generally, been unaware of the far more serious
losses caused by sheet erosion on moderately sloping land. During the past three or four years the U. S. Government has done a great deal of work
on the control of sheet erosion by terracing and I have selected a few figures from reports on this work. The first show soil losses on terraced and un-terraced land. On land with a 5% slope, planted to winter wheat followed by cotton, uncontrolled rainfall
carried away 60.39 tons of top soil.
Terraces held this loss to 1.33 tons. On another field with a 12% slope, planted to barley followed by clover, the un-terraced part lost 31.7 tons—the terraced part lost 2.23 tons. These are extremes but the average for experimental fields in several states show 16.9 tons lost on un-terraced fields and only 3.19 tons on the terraced fields.
Losses are much less if the slopes are used for meadows and properly graded pastures. Figures showing the value of plant sustaining materials washed away by sheet erosion are large enough to be interesting but the most concise statement of this loss is that sheet erosion removes each year,
twenty times more than a normal
crop."

Terraces Retain Moisture
"When nature blesses us with a 36-inch annual rainfall, she dumps on each acre, free of charge, 978,000 gallons of water. That's a lot of water and we let entirely too much of it get away. Referring to the tables from which the soil losses were taken and using the averages for all the projects
we find that the terraced land allowed 11.2% of the rainfall to get away
while on un-terraced land 31% of the rain water went where it wasn't wanted—carrying good soil with it. Terraces saved about 20% or 195,000 gallons per acre. That means 7,624,000 gallons of water on a forty acre orchard—enough to fill a pond a quarter of a mile long, seven rods wide,

and 8 feet deep. That would make a lot of cider if processed by your apple trees."

"Selection of the best type of terrace is governed by slope of the land
—type of soil and character of local
rain storms, if this can be ascertained.
Generally, level

Plan City-wide Building Survey In Interest of Better Housing Program

An application has been made for a work relief project for Jacksonville to provide for a city-wide building survey. The project will keep 20 people employed for a month. The workers will be furnished thru the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, and the work will be under direction of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Roxanna Benson Litter passed away at 10:55 o'clock Friday morning at her home, 2141 South Sandy street. On January 18, Mrs. Litter fell at her residence and fractured her hip, an accident which hastened her death on account of her advanced age.

She was born in Morgan county July 16, 1881, a daughter of John and Jane Gorham, and at her death was aged 54 years, 8 months and 14 days.

Overly, L. F. Hieronymus, H. Muehlhausen, Leo S. Johnson and Crit Haneline.

Twilight Burglar Robs Stoldt Home

Enters Residence Between 7 and 9:15 O'clock; Some Cash Taken

Jacksonville's "twilight burglar" who chooses the early evening hours to carry on his depredations, made another call Thursday night. This time he visited the home of George Stoldt, 759 South Church street. Mr. Stoldt is superintendent of the city light and water plant.

After the robbery was discovered Thursday night by Mr. and Mrs. Stoldt on their return home, it was found that $3.50 was taken and possibly some jewelry. A further check of articles in the home was being made Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoldt left home at 7 o'clock and returned at 8:15. One of the windows had been forced up.

During the past two months there have been a number of robberies, most of these committed between 7 and 10 o'clock. The prowler is believed to "spot" persons leaving home, then force entrance after he is certain the home is unoccupied.

Last Quarter Rally Falls Point Short As Athens Wins 17 to 16

Game Tonight
Athens, Feb. 1.—Working a makeshift line-up together during the progress of the game, Jacksonville high gave Athens a real tussle in a basketball game here tonight, a last quarter rally falling just one point short of a tie score, Athens winning 17-16.

Athens took the lead in the first quarter and held it most of the way, but always was pressed hard by the Crimson. Athens had a 4-1 lead at the end of the first quarter, an 8-6 margin at the half, and a 12-10 margin at the end of the third quarter. It was anybody's ball game all the way.

Two players, Fred May and Lynn Ferguson, were unable to make the trip with the Crimson because of colds.

ROODHOUSE AND WHITE HALL IN GREENE FINALS

Railroaders Romp Over Host Team And White Hall Wins Close One From Hawks

Greenfield, Feb. 1.—Roodhouse and White Hall will meet here Saturday night for the Greene county championship, and from all of the dopesters, it's anybody's game. Roodhouse has defeated White Hall once this year, but the margin was so slender that there are plenty of folks who will argue that it meant nothing. White Hall, however, is in the championship flight, only because its varsity lads piled up a long enough lead before they left the game on personal fouls. Two regulars went out of the line-up and a third player had three on him when the game closed with Carrollton raising the ball thru the hoop, and coming up fast.

Roodhouse had things much its own way in the game with Greenfield, however, rolling into the championship round with a 46 to 24 score. Roodhouse led at the end of the first period 13-6, and from then on they were far enough in front that there wasn't much doubt about the outcome.

White Hall also took a lead in the first half, getting a 15-8 margin, and then a 23-14 margin in the third quarter closed. Fair and Simmons fouled out of the game and Wendell, high scoring guard, acquired his third foul as the game grew to a fever pitch.

Link Hauptmann to Hohenzollern Jewel Swindle During '26

Several Victims Have Named Carpenter as Man Who Engineered Scheme

St. Paul, (AP)—The Dispatch said today in a copyrighted story that the Rev. H. J. Schaar of Morrison, S. D., had identified Bruno Richard Hauptmann, on trial in Flemington, N. J., for the "kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby," as the man who engineered the "Hohenzollern jewel" swindle in the northwest nearly nine years ago.

He was quoted as identifying Hauptmann through newspaper photographs.

Several other victims of the swindle who obtained thousands of dollars in the Dakotas and Minnesota in 1926, have identified newspaper photographs of Hauptmann as the man who posed as a German prince and "borrowed" money on royal jewels of the House of Hohenzollern, the Dispatch said.

Cold Weather Has Cut Stocks, Report

Wholesale Volume Bolstered by Larger Spring Orders, Review Declares

New York—(AP)—The severe weather over a large area of the country during the past 10 days has caused such a demand for winter merchandise that stocks have been reduced to the vanishing point, according to the weekly trade review of Dun & Bradstreet.

Wholesale volume was bolstered by larger spring commitments than last year, the review says, and a heavier flow of orders than could be handled for immediate shipment were reported in many cases.

"The persistence of the uptrend in industrial divisions continues to maintain unquestioned leadership in the progress now being recorded," the review states. "In short, during the first month of the year a definite revival has developed in nearly all branches of business."

I. S. D. DEFEATS FRANKLIN; MEET CLINTON HERE

Sowle Insurance Five Will Oppose Illini in Part of Double Bill

Games Tonight
7:30—I. S. D. Tigers vs. Clinton.
8:30—I. S. D. Illini vs. Sowle Insurance.

Illinois School for the Deaf turned a somersault last night and turned back Franklin high school 25 to 15 in a basketball game played on the Franklin court. The Tigers will meet Clinton high on their own floor tonight as part of a double header, which also will feature a game between the Illini and the Sowle Insurance team of Springfield.

Wells led the Tigers in their victory at Franklin, toting in 12 points. The Tigers took the lead at the start and held it all the way. The margin was only 10-6 at halftime.

Couch S. Robey Burns also announced last night that the Illini would play the New York Renaissance team here Feb. 14.

Franklin Seconds beat the I. S. D. Seconds 20-18 in a curtain raiser.

Four teams moved into the semifinals of the annual DeMolay state championship basketball tournament last night on the David Prince court, and were all set for today's semi-final and final battles. The semi-finals will be played this afternoon and the final and third place games will be played tonight.

Jacksonville's hopes of having a team in the running were quenched almost before they were bright enough to see, Springfield eliminating the local entry 28 to 10 in the first game.

Granite City, Danville, and Pontiac are the other survivors, along with Springfield to get into the semi-final round, the Danville team coming out of the opening round with a thrilling 40-30 victory over Decatur. Other scores were one sided, however, indicating that the big test is ahead for all teams.

Springfield tossed ten players in the game against the Jacksonville team, piling up a 15-6 lead at the end of the first half and winning easily.

There was little to choose between Danville and Decatur, with Danville getting most of its points in the first half and then fighting to protect them during the final half.

Peoria was easy for Granite City, the Peorians being forced to abandon their automobile in favor of a traction line, and hitch hike from Springfield to Jacksonville for the game. Granite City defeated them 46-17. Pontiac, last year's champion, dropped last year's host team, Waukegan, in the other game of the opening round, 30-19.

PRESSHOG PRICES UP
10 TO 25 CENTS

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Hog prices rose 10 to 25 cents today in an active market, light weight animals showing the most strength. Another meager supply of fresh hogs accounted for buoyancy in the trade.

Heavyweights returned to the $8.00 level with good butchers weighing above 200 pounds selling at $7.80 to $8.00, the top being paid for very few offerings. The average price was around $7.80 against $7.75 last year. Receipts were only 12,000, half the run a year ago.

Although quotations for prime heavy steers held at the four-year peak of $13.65, no sales at that level were reported, there being a large supply of common to medium grade animals in the day's run of 3,000. The general cattle market, as a result, was very slow, with prices steady to lower.

Lower grade steers sold at 25 to 40 cents under the high time of the week and vealers were 25 to 50 cents down in instances. The top for yearlings was $12.00.

Slaughter lambs ruled steady to 25 cents lower while sheep were steady. Feeders closed strong after a weak opening. Small killers and shippers paid $9.00 to $9.10 for several head of slaughter lambs.

GRAIN VALUES
PULLED DOWN

Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Big shipments of Argentine corn to the United States did a good deal today to drag all grain values lower.

Announcement was made that Argentina's grain exports this week included 1,800,000 bushels of corn to the United States, together with 400,000 bushels of wheat.

The Argentine wheat was the destination of which was optional, either the United States or Europe. A further bearish influence was the fact that Argentine's grain exports this week included 1,800,000 bushels of corn to the United States, together with 400,000 bushels of wheat.

Commission house selling pressure developed early in the Chicago corn futures market, and continued until almost the end of the day. There were indications, too, of some loosening up on the part of domestic holders of corn available for immediate use.

Furthermore, demand here from shippers of corn was slack.

Thieves Take Two Safes at Palmyra

Store Strong Boxes Hauled Away in Truck; Guard Road at Waverly

Two iron safes were stolen from stores in Palmyra Thursday night and hauled away in a truck or large automobile, according to word received Friday morning by Sheriff Kenneth Woods. The Macoupin county sheriff asked officers in several towns to be on the lookout for the thieves.

Thursday night the burglaries were discovered soon after they were committed, and hard roads were watched in effort and trap the thieves. The nightwatchman at Waverly was stationed at the intersection of Routes 111 and 104, but did not get trace of the fugitives.

"THE LADY DANCES" by MARGE STANLEY

CHAPTER XXII

The ship slid smoothly on, and the green hills of Tongatabu sank into lower relief. Mark tried to pick out the location of the native village where he and Loring had experienced such trouble; he pictured Vanya as she had appeared in the ruddy light of the tribal fire. Beautiful, he thought, glancing toward her slender figure along the deck. She was beautiful. He ought to be glad of the lucky break he was getting, instead of miserable. After all, she was as much the gainer as he—more, as far as that went. He was spending good money on her, for the business; he probably could have driven far sharper bargain. "Easy Mark!" Loring had been right! And yet—well, the bargain was made, and that settled it. Vanya hadn't been forced to agree to his terms.

"Heave-o!" followed Shene. There was a scurrying of black figures; Oris was bawling orders at the black boys. The schooner swung gracefully about, her trim nose pointed keen as a setter's into the wind.

"A couple of minutes till the boys get the lines fast," said Shene to Mark.

"Trim little craft, ain't she?" "Yery," said Mark politely. "There's money to be made with a ship like this," said Shene. "Anyhow, for those that's willing to put some in."

"Don't doubt it," said Mark. "Not if you, for instance, were looking for a neat profit. I could make my point the way." Shene's voice dropped to a confidential growl.

"I'm not in Tonga on business," replied Mark, watching Vanya who had turned and was approaching them.

"I know—I know!" rumbled Shene. "But a man's a fool not to take a turn when it's offered. And I've a good thing, too—a bed of oyster off an atoll, and every shell a find. I know; I been there. And I'd take a partner in on shares, maybe."

"What's a share worth?" asked Mark casually. Vanya had looked up suddenly at his question.

"Two hundred pound," said Shene. "And you stand to clear it five times!"

"A thousand dollars," said Mark. "I thought you said wind was free!"

"Ah, but supplies ain't!" grinned Shene. He glanced over the ship. "Right at night!" he said. "In the bin."

Mark followed Vanya through the door. Shene was fingering a paper he had spread on the table before him, scribbling something with a hand awkwardly unused to pen.

"Now," he growled to Mark. "You sign here, and you here."

"They did as he indicated; Mark with a happy, deprecating scribble, and Vanya with no expression at all.

"My heartiest to you!" said Shene with a sarcastic leer, as he stepped to the door.

"Oris!" he bawled. "Tuboi!" The sandy-haired little man who had played for the Ellice's entertainment entered, followed by a trouser-clad native. Shene pointed a heavy finger at the paper.

"Witness, you soun!" he roared. "You've signed before! And get out!"

The witnesses departed, and Shene turned with a smirk to Mark, scribbling, and Vanya with no expression at all.

"My heartiest to you!" said Shene with a sarcastic leer, as he stepped to the door.

Proposed City Water Plant Improvement is Discussed at Meeting

City officials, the superintendent of the water plant and Alex Van Praag of the firm of Warren & Van Praag, consulting engineers, joined in an explanation of Jacksonville's water plant requirements at a citizens' meeting last night. About seventy-five persons gathered in the circuit court room to hear statements from these officials on steps that have been taken to bring rehabilitation of the pumping and power station.

SCOTT COUNTY CHILD PASSES AWAY FRIDAY

Vivian Bernice Lacey Dies Suddenly: Rites to be Sunday

Winchester, Feb. 1.—Vivian Bernice, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enos Lacey, was stricken with convulsions at noon today while on the way to visit the child's doctor in Pike county and passed away. The deceased child had been ill with whooping cough for some time and the parents of the child had left their home near Glasgow to take the child to Pike county for medical attention. The remains were taken to the Danner Funeral Home in this city. Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Christian church in Glasgow. Burial will be in the Glasgow cemetery.

To Handle Oats
Albert Coultais, James Lashmet and Wilson Coultais have been named as a committee of the Farm Bureau for the distribution of seed oats, furnished by the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, to Scott county farmers. The oats are of no definite variety but a white oat which is recommended to grow.

Loans for the purchase of the oats may be secured through any one of the following farm credit organizations: Farm Credit Administration Loans, Drought Loans, Rural Rehabilitation Loans and Production Credit Corporation Loans. However, it is necessary that applications for loans be made sufficiently early so that the funds will be available in time for spring planting. It is recommended by the committee that all applications for seed oats be made prior to February 14th.

News Notes
Rev. C. F. Baker of the Old Peoples home at Quincy will occupy the pulpit at the First M. E. church here, Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock.

Among those from Waverly who attended the funeral of Mrs. H. J. Rodgers held in Jacksonville Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. John Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Turnbull, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Alderson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Beerp, Miss Stella Rodgers, Thomas, Samuel and George Rodgers and Maurice Turnbull.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral of J. B. Roach held Wednesday were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. LaPorte, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cook and son, Claude, Chicago; L. E. Roach, Lawrence Road, Eugene Mills and Ross Caruthers, Peoria; Mr. and Mrs. O. Roach, Hannibal, Mo.; Mrs. Dwight Thorne, Mattoon; Dempsey Mills and Walter Bryan, Alton; J. T. Roach, Mrs. William Cahill and Mrs. Kate McBride, Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Turner, Valley City, Ind.; Her husband, C. Morris, Springfield; Mrs. W. C. Calhoun and Mrs. Julia Wright, Franklin.

George Stoltz, superintendent of the water plant, told briefly of the various changes in the water plant, which the department is now operating. Much of the machinery is obsolete and the operation of the plant is in danger because of the worn-out condition of equipment, he said.

City Attorney Orville Foreman discussed the legal steps that have been taken toward financing improvements at the plant before the engineers were engaged to prepare plans. Foreman said the council investigated the matter of financing a rehabilitation plan. It asked for bids on bonds and A. C. Allen & Company offered to take $150,000 worth of bonds at above par. It is proposed to offer the bonds at 41 per cent, payable over a period of 20 years out of the water revenues.

Talks Improvements
VanPraag, whose firm is located in Decatur, Ill., explained the various improvements proposed in the plans which were prepared some time ago. New Diesel type engines, new wells for the treatment and storage of water and a general reconditioning of the plant are proposed.

Attorney Harmon asked VanPraag what fee he is to receive for his services, and the engineer replied that he is to receive 5 per cent, which he said is a customary remuneration for this kind of work. Van Praag and Harmon engaged in several verbal sorties and on one occasion the engineer said he did not propose to be cross-examined. He declared that he was before the meeting for the purpose of explanation, not for argument.

Harmon reminded the engineer that this was a citizens' meeting and that as a taxpayer he had a right to know the facts.

VanPraag replied that he considered it unusual for a person who is after facts as an individual to bring a stenographer with him to a public meeting.

The engineer said that Harmon's conduct reminded him of the methods employed by some utilities companies. Harmon jumped up and shouted that he resented such statements, again asserting that he is connected with no group or individuals, but that he wants facts for himself.

Williamson Talks
Alderman Harlan A. Williamson addressed the audience in favor of the proposed improvements. He said that anyone who will make a visit of inspection to the water plant will recognize the need of immediate repairs. He urged the citizens to advocate the improvements among their friends.

Dr. H. C. Jaguth of Illinois College spoke briefly and asked several questions concerning the improvements. He said the city should look forward to providing a greater storage capacity for its water supply.

During the meeting both the Mayor and Harmon referred to a meeting of the citizens' committee yesterday afternoon at the city hall. Harmon was there, and charged that the mayor requested him to leave the session. Mayor Weinright said that after an hour and a half of "chewing the rag" he asked Harmon to permit the committee meeting to continue.

At the conclusion of last night's meeting Harmon continued to address the crowd after the mayor adjourned the meeting. Some of the council members remained in the room while others left.

Harmon named off the citizens' committee and referred to each. He declared that with exception of one member none on the committee has technical or engineering experience.

He said he expects to continue his investigation into the proposed improvement solely at his own expense.

Among the Waverly callers here Friday was Mrs. Ethel Beatty.

Mrs. H. Roberts of Franklin was a shopper in the city yesterday.

Among the Concord business visitors here Friday was Ernest W. Smith.

ATTENDANCE AT CHURCH IS UTLEY PLEA

Evangelist Discusses Jail Life of Paul And Silas

Last night before a congregation that packed Grace Methodist church to the doors, Evangelist Uldine Utley, made a plea for all to attend some church Sunday morning, and in keeping with her suggestion, invited all of the 25 or more visiting ministers to stand and announce their respective sermon subjects for Sunday. It was found that pastors from Taylorville, Manchester, Concord, Naples, Murrayville and many out of town points were present. Such a large number of the audience now bring Bibles to the services, that the responsive Scripture readings are one of the most impressive and distinctive parts of the service.

The large chorus of men singers proved enjoyable and inspiring, and they brought the singing to a climax when they sang, "Onward Christian Soldiers," in which the crowd joined. Though announced for 7:30 the church is filled so early each night that the singing begins long in advance, and the added time for the volume of song from all parts of the church, is a show of how it was found that about 400, of the more than 1500 persons present, were from out of town.

Special invitation was extended to delegations for next week and reservation will be made for those who give advance notice. The president of MacMurray College, Dr. C. P. McClelland, led the opening prayer, after which announcements were made by District Superintendent, J. E. Laus, and C. E. Williamson, chairman of the finance committee. Uldine invited all members of all committees of the revival to attend Monday night's meeting which will also be Sunday School night, and which will feature the singing of the boys and girls of the Junior Choir.

The subject of Sunday's 2:30 p.m. service will be "The meaning of the church," with a general evangelistic message at night. Howard Wade Kinsey, sang a solo well suited to his deep bass: "King Over Death and the Grave."

Paul And Silas in Prison
Uldine in her sermon, painted a vivid word description of Paul and Silas in prison at Philippi. She said: "When the earthquake loosed the bonds of the prisoners, and opened the dungeon doors, the jailer responsible for their detention, was in despair. He drew his sword, and would have killed himself, but was saved from this action by Paul who assured him that none had fled. The Christian does not have to run away from anything, for he is filled with an assurance and courage, that stands all the shocks and vicissitudes of earthly existence. Paul and Silas sang and praised God, in contrast to the swearing, and rough behavior of the usual prisoners, and the God whom they praised, intervened with the earthquake."

When we sing of Old Time Religion which was 'good for Paul and Silas' we are paying tribute to these brave and sturdy soldiers of the Lord.

It is rather easy to sing hymns of praise here in this service tonight with fine choir and good leadership, but the real Christian, who sing in jail, or wherever the path of duty may lead. Right in this dank prison fortress, that night was the beginning of the revival that founded the church at Philippi. The question that the hard pressed jailer, asked of the messengers of Christ: "What must I do to be saved?" is as pertinent and pressing now, tonight, as it has ever been, and the answer my unsaved friend is the same. Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved. It will save you and your household, just as it did the jailer's family."

About twenty persons came forward in response to the invitation as the male chorus quietly sang, "For You I Am Praying." The Utley party is spending today in Quincy, but will return to Jacksonville Sunday morning, for the scheduled services.

BANDITS BIND MAN, DEPART WITH MONEY

No Clue As to Identity of Filling Station Robbers Reported

No clue as to the identity of the bandits who held up and robbed Russell Baker, 27, here early Friday morning, has been found officers reported last night. Baker, night attendant at the Conoco gasoline filling station on South Main street, was robbed by three armed bandits about 3:15 o'clock yesterday morning. The robbers binding their victim with a strap and departing with between $40 and $50 in cash. Baker was tied up and left in an oil room, after he discouraged the robbers from taking him away in their car.

When Baker heard a car stop in front of the station he went to the door and saw several men. The first words he heard were: "Alright, turn around."

Baker said the bandit who muttered this command held a coat that partly concealed his face, and in his other hand he had a revolver which was aimed directly at the station attendant.

The holdup men marched the attendant into a wash room, and while one of them stood guard over him the other two ransacked the place. The money in the cash register and money changer was taken. Baker believed that a fourth man remained in the automobile.

The search for money occupied only a few minutes and when the bandits prepared for the getaway they discussed taking the attendant with them. He protested and won the fight, but was escorted into the oil room where his hands were tied with the strap from his money changer. Meanwhile one of the bandits cut the telephone wires leading from the station.

Tied and Placed on Floor
Baker was placed on the floor and ordered not to get up. After he heard the car leave he went to the Illinois Power & Light Company plant across the street, where employees untied his hands and called the police.

Officers rushed to the filling station and patrolled streets in effort to sight the bandit machine, but no trace of it was obtained. Baker noticed when he went to the door the first time that the men were in a Ford V-8.

Police in Springfield, Peoria, Alton and other towns were informed of the holdup.

Baker reported that the car drove into the station from the south. He was sitting at a desk checking up the receipts of the night when the car drove in. From his temporary prison in the oil room he could not ascertain the direction the thieves took when they left.

Because of his incarceration in the wash room the attendant did not get a good look at the bandits, but saw that all were young, appearing to be between 17 and 20 years old. They wore overcoats.

The Conoco station is operated by Charles Race, who was notified by police of the holdup. A portion of the money taken belonged to Baker and the remainder to the station.

Baker resides on South East street. He went through a thrilling few minutes while the bandits were there but was unharmed. For a time he believed that the stickup men intended to kidnap him and he argued this point with them in such fashion that after they conferred quickly, it was decided to tie him instead.

REAL ESTATE BOARD MEETS IN CITY FRIDAY

The Jacksonville Real Estate Board met Friday evening in regular session at the Applebee building. The board announced that two of their members have been appointed to position on the state board. They are Dr. A. B. Applebee on the appraisal committee and C. L. Rice on the committee for taxation.

Dr. Applebee gave a report of the recent meeting in Chicago of the State and National Real Estate board. Mr. Rice gave a tax plan for the immediate future with comments on connection therewith.

A committee composed of A. B. Applebee, O. E. Taylor and Mrs. Charles Johnson was appointed to make plans for a demonstration of material, equipment and furnishing of homes that might be presented to the general public in the near future.

The term, "Realtor" is one not commonly heard here but may now become a common expression, since the following members of the local Real Estate Board having complied with the requirements of the local state and national real estate boards, are entitled to the name of "Realtor": O. E. Taylor, Mrs. Charles Johnson, A. B. Applebee, Charles H. Story, Fred Drake, Tom Buckthorpe, C. L. Rice and T. M. Tuckinhorpe. The board recently requests all licensed real estate agents to affiliate themselves with the local board.

A meeting has been suggested for the near future where other organized interests and the general public might be invited.
